Bugle Editor and Former Community Council Chairman Retires

EDMONTON — Major H. H. Hennie, CD, of Yellow Grass, Sask., will retire from the Canadian Army this month, following 23 years continuous service.

An officer of the Canadian Intelligence Corps, Maj. Hennie leaves the appointment of General Staff Officer (Grade 2), Headquarters Western Command, Edmonton to commence his retirement leave.

Enlisting with the Regina Rifle

Regiment in June, 1940, Maj. Hennie transferred to the Canadian Intelligence Corps in 1942, and in two years rose in rank from corporal to warrant officer (grade 2). He was commissioned a lieutenant and posted to Headquarters, 1st Canadian Army in Northwest Europe in 1944. The following year he was promoted captain and served as an intelligence officer until the end of hostilities.

Since the Second World War, Maj. Hennie has held various staff appointments in Canada. He attended the Canadian Army Staff College, Kingston, Ont., in 1950, and the following year was appointed a general staff officer at Headquarters Eastern Command, Halifax. He was named Commandant of the Canadian School of Military Intelligence at Camp Borden, Ont. in 1955.

During his tour of duty at Griesbach, Major Hennie was very active in all community activities. He was formerly Chairman of the Griesbach Association and was recently named Editor of the Griesbach Bugle.

Letters to the Editor

Letters addressed to the Editor for publication should deal with subjects of general interest. They may be published under a pseudonym if requested, but must contain the signature and address of the originator as evidence of good faith.

Sir:

I wish to take this opportunity on behalf of my wife and children to express appreciation to the Griesbach Community for the many tokens of sympathy shown to us in the loss of our daughter Sharon.

It is doubtful if any comparable situation in civilian life could arouse the immediate and continuing response of friends and neighbours, as has been evident to us.

As service people we are, like many others, living away from hometown and relatives whom one can rely on to close ranks in a bereavement. It would be hard to imagine how much more 'at home' one could feel after the way the Ladies of St. John's W.A. and Our Lady of Fatima W.A., the Students Union, the Young Peoples' Association, the schools and friends and neighbours made every effort to make us feel that our loss was felt by the residents of Griesbach as well!

Our deepest thanks for flowers, Mass Cards, letters and cards of sympathy, and above all for the "community spirit" to make us feel that we do in fact live in our "home-town".

Sincerely,

W. C. Barrey, Captain

Gentlemen,

The kids of Griesbach have been wondering why we don't have a swimming pool or some sort of outdoor summer recreation.

I'm sure if there was a swimming pool it would be well used and very profitable.

Most of the older children in camp have to go either to Namao or to the city to swim.

We think a swimming pool or some sort of summer recreation would keep most or some of these children out of trouble.

A pool or some summer recreation would keep the kids out of their mothers hair and out of mischief. Thank you for your consideration.

Yours truly,

Wilma Erfurt

EDITORS NOTE:

We too would like to see a pool in Griesbach, Wilma, but excessive costs have ruled out construction of a pool as a community project. Long term planning calls for a pool in the area as normal construction but firm dates have not yet been determined.

Repeat Canada - Jamaica Cadet Exchange

An exchange training scheme between Canada and Jamaica instituted last year, is being repeated this summer as 35 master cadets, representing the cream of The Royal Canadian Army Cadets across Canada, flew to Kingston, Jamaica on July 21 for a month of training and sightseeing.

A similar group of Jamaican cadets will undergo instruction in Canada during the same period.

Accompanied by two Regular Army Officers, the Canadian cadets will attend camp with Jamaican army and air force cadets, visit Jamaican families and carry out a training schedule which includes a trek around the British West Indies' largest island.

A course in advanced leadership will be held at Camp Farnham, near Montreal, before the boys take off for the Caribbean.

Master cadets chosen for this trip must show instructional ability, be in good physical condition, be selected for the 1963 advanced cadet leader course and have attended a cadet camp within the last two years.

While on the sub-tropical island, senior master cadets selected from each of the four Canadian Army commands will instruct Jamaican cadets in first aid, radio communication, marksmanship and national survival.

Master cadets are distinguishable by a gold star worn on the upper sleeves of their uniforms.

The boys are taking along their own musical accompaniment — three drummers and four pipers from the pipe band of No. 72 Seaforth Highlanders of Canada Cadet Corps from Vancouver.

Capt. A. V. Stoppa, area cadet officer of Saskatchewan Area, Regina and Captain H. E. MacDonald, Cadet Services of Canada, Eastern Command, Halifax will accompany the group.

At the same time in Canada, 24 Jamaican cadets will take an advanced leader course at the National Cadet Camp in Banff, Alta., while 6 cadet instructors are attending the Grade "A" Instructors' Course at Vernon, B.C.

The Jamaicans will sightsee in Vancouver and attend the Pacific National Exhibition August 22 - 23 before flying via Nampah, Alta., to RCAF Station Trenton, Ont., for the return flight to their homeland on August 25.

The Canadian cadets fly home the same day by the returning RCAF aircraft.

Garden Competition Results

The majority of Griesbach residents take pride in a neat and tidy lawn and area around their PMQ. The winners of the competition for the month of June are listed here and we extend to them our congratulations. We would also congratulate and encourage the many who, while their names do not appear on the prize list, nevertheless keep their area neat, tidy and a real credit to the community.

Bugle Food Service Monthly Recipes

For the outdoor cooking enthusiasts, some of my favourite barbecue recipes are Kabobs and they are so easy.

In barbecue cooking, there is a difference between the cooking of red and white meat. Red meat demands a searing to seal in the juices and retain the flavour. On the other hand, white meats, because of the difference in the tissues, do not need the searing process, but do require basting.

Whether you are grilling or spit barbecuing, having the coals right is very important. A bed of glowing coals does the best job, so make sure you start the fire sufficiently in advance so that it will have burned down to coals when you start to cook.

Before you start cooking tap the gray ash off the coals. Ash holds the heat back, and acts as an insulator. Remember, the same as in all cooking — a little heat goes a long way.

BEEF KABOBS

Beef round gets a leisurely drink in California Marinade!

For six to eight servings, choose three pounds lean beef round, cut into 2½ inch squares. Add beef squares to California Marinade, turning to coat. Refrigerate 24 hours to 36 hours to give marinade time to tenderize beef; turn the beef occasionally. Fill skewers alternating meat squares with green pepper, mushrooms, cooked potatoes, or other kabob tidbits of your choice.

Broil rare, or medium rare over hot coals, brushing frequently with melted butter or margarine. Use rotating skewers or turn often on grill.

CALIFORNIA MARINADE

Thoroughly combine 1 cup salad oil, ¾ cup soy sauce, ½ cup lemon juice, ¼ cup worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup prepared mustard, 2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. black pepper, and 2 garlic cloves, minced..

SHASHLIK

Two pounds boneless lamb, cut into 2½ inch squares. Quartered green peppers, quartered sweet red peppers, onions cut in thirds, other favourites to suit yourself.

Add lamb squares to marinade and stir to coat. Let refrigerate overnight or stand at room temperature two or three hours, turning occasionally. Fill skewers, alternating meat cubes with the vegetables. Broil over hot coals to medium rare, brushing frequently with melted butter or margarine. Use rotating skewers or turn often on grill. Makes six servings.

ARMENIAN HERB MARINADE

Combine ½ cup olive oil or salad oil, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 tsp. salt, marjoram and thyme, ½ cup chopped onion, and ¼ cup snipped parsley. Use to marinate lamb or chicken. Enough for 1½ to 2 lbs. meat.

HOT DOG KABOBS

1 lb. (8-10 frankfurters, cut in 1 inch slices) cut 1 inch squares green pepper
1 recipe Soy Sauce marinade
1 cup 1 inch sliced celery (below)
1 cup 1 inch sliced onion 6 skewers

Soak the frankfurters and vegetables at room temperature for three hours, in this Soy Sauce Marinade.

Combine:

½ cup soy sauce 1 tsp. thyme
⅓ cup catsup ¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup salad oil 1 tsp. prepared mustard

Alternate the meat and vegetables on skewers broil five minutes on each side, brushing occasionally with soy sauce marinade. Yield six servings.

Canadians Participate in International March

SOEST, Germany — Fast-stepping members of the 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, serving with the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group in Germany represented Canada in Holland's famous Nijmegen marches which took place July 23 - 26.

Nijmegen has been the host of the international marching event since 1909 when 45 Dutch citizens took part in an organized walk to sponsor physical fitness. The marches are now an international event involving more than 12,000 civilian and military participants from more than 15 countries.

The 30-man contingent from the first Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment was commanded by Lt. Roy Lampard of St. Catharines, Ont.

The non-competitive marches require participants to finish a prescribed course within a certain period of time. Marchers who finish the course are presented with a commemorative medal. Military marchers in battle kit are required to march 25 miles per day for four days, while the lighter-dressed civilians must march 30 miles daily.

A carnival atmosphere prevailed throughout Nijmegen during the week when more than a million visitors cheered on the marchers who ranged in age from 14 to 80 years of age and included blue-helmeted bobbies from London, killed Scotsmen, white-plumed Spanish police, gaily-costumed

Israelis as well as military marchers from several armies.

RCAF Chaplain Appointed Bishop

OTTAWA — Wing Commander Norman J. Gallagher, Staff Officer of Religious Administration (RC) at 1 Air Division Headquarters in France, has been appointed as a bishop in the Roman Catholic Church.

Wing Commander Gallagher will leave the RCAF prior to his consecration as Bishop Auxiliary to the Military Bicar, (RC) the Most Reverend L. M. Roy, Archbishop of Quebec. The Military Vicariate includes all Roman Catholic personnel and dependants of the three Canadian Armed Forces.

This appointment is the first time a Regular Force Chaplain of any of the Canadian Services has been made a bishop. It is also the first time the Canadian Military Vicar has had an Auxiliary Bishop.

The position is accompanied by the title "Bishop of Adrasos", a name which has remained unused in the RC Church for centuries.

Group Captain J. P. Davignon, Director of Religious Administration (RC) for the RCAF, said that the appointment will contribute greatly to the spiritual welfare of serving personnel and their dependants.

Being another letter from Myrth (a clued-up character) to her former neighbour.

Dear Kit:

Well I guess it's about time I answered your last letter. So Harry finally took you for a vacation. Imagine, three whole days in Wetaskawin — and with his relatives. Ye gods!

I guess you know we didn't get a vacation last year. This worm I married really pulled a good one. Since we've been on a budget, we try to put away $25. a month for holidays, but wait 'till I tell you what happened to the dough!

I'm sitting in the house one afternoon with my tootsies on the hassock watching some glamour-puss — you know these afternoon TV shows where they yack, yack, yack about housekeeping or HOW TO GROW OLD GRACEFULLY! I can hardly stand them, but after all a gal has to keep busy (that's a joke, chum!)

Anyway the doorbell rings... Incidentally, I've got to tel you this before I forget. My loving husband installed one of those chains on the door. Apparently he heard some lecture about how to keep out of debt, and one of the pearls of wisdom which Georgie brought home had to do with putting this chain on the door so as the salesman couldn't get in... I must admit it's not a bad idea, as you will see.

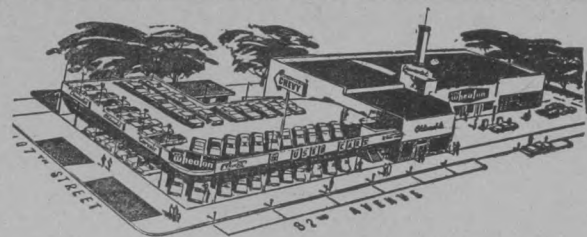

Anyway, I look through the window and here's some creep wearing a Yonge Street beanie, and carrying a new leather satchel. Obviously a peddler... The type Georgie calls a "Doorway Commando."

At first I wasn't going to answer the door — but these Bloodhounds don't know when to quit. What's more I'm sure my new loudmouthed neighbour told him I was in!

Following Georgie's orders (Ha-Ha) I leave on the chain, open the door about two inches, and ask "Enthusiastic Ike" what he wants.

He gives me some garbage about doing research, and I tell him to "blow".

So then he insults me. "Yes", he says. "I really want to see your husband. What time will he be home?" I tell him Georgie will be home about 6 o'clock — unless he decides to go town with the boys — if that happens, his guess is as good as mine.

"Thank you mam", he says, and takes off for the next PMQ.

George arrives at 5:30. I should mention that we take off the chain after Georgie gets home — because he really knows how to handle salesman! Anyway, the doorbell rings at six and Georgie answers. You guessed it — our huckster friend has returned — and you should have seen him go into his act.

He was "Sirring" our Georgie all over the place — and of course Georgie makes like a real big wheel — offers the guy a cigar and says "siddown chum". After they talk Army for half an hour (cripes, I'm ready to throw up) Georgie finally gets up the nerve to ask the jerk what it's all about. The guy says:

"You won't believe it sir — but you have been selected to get a free set of encyclopedias."

Well, like I say, Georgie is really clued up on salesmen — particularly after listening to this great speech he heard from some expert in the Benevolent Fund — so Georgie says:

"Sorry buddie — but we don't want to buy nothing!"

The fella backs off — looks Georgie up and down and then says he's sorry too.

"I thought you were an intelligent man. You want to know something?... I couldn't sell you an encyclopedia set if I wanted to. I am simply a demonstrator carrying out a research project. I leave this set in your home at absolutely no obligation. All you have to do is let the company use your name."

Georgie is still suspicious so he says: "How do I know this is on the level?"

"Ha", the smoothie replies, "We actually make you an agent of the company."

Well, whether the salesman knows it or not, he has touched upon Georgie's soft spot. You know my ever-lovin' and his dreams about being a big shot! I can see the wheels turning in Georgie's fertile mind (pardon the expression). Georgie is already thinking about fifty-cent cigars and the big Cadillac he'll be driving.

"Jeez — a company agent? You really mean it?" Georgie says.

"You bet — and here's the contract if you'd care to look it over?"

At this stage Georgie doesn't want to appear stupid. He doesn't understand one dam word he's reading — but he'd rather be caught washing the dishes than admit THAT! (PS — He still washes them — but none of his pals know about it yet).

Anyway, I do hear him mumble — "What's this jazz about year books." The salesman says that he must keep up to date with the encyclopedia program — if he is to represent them as an agent.

What happened next rather escapes me! I forgot to tell you that the kids are in the act by now. The salesman had given little Jimmy and his sister some pictures out of one of the books. I must admit they were real good pictures and the kids were practically drooling. He gave me some sections from the book on how to make my own clothes for next-to-nothing. Also one part about how to learn to play bridge.

I started to realize what was happening when I saw Georgie signing a cheque for $17.50.

"What's this all about?" I hollered.

"Simmer down Myrt. This is the initiation fee to become a company agent".

You can guess the rest. About two weeks later we get a mahogany bookcase, a 24-volume set of encyclopedia, 2 children's dictionaries, etc., etc. When we worked it out, the total cost was $590, plus finance charges. (Georgie found out later that the same salesman had signed up 17 agents in our PMQ area.)

Of course George hit the roof

when he realized what had happened, but at least one good thing came out of it. He headed for the pub and I expected he would come home really looped. Instead he had one beer. I guess he wouldn't trust himself... he knew the boys would have a good laugh on him if he blabbed about what he'd done.

You're probably saying why didn't he send the encyclopedia set back. I can tell you Kit, he tried. He wrote the company but their lawyer sent him a letter saying that they had no use for "second hand encyclopedias" — and even if they did take the set back they could only allow him some money off the contract and he would have to pay the balance. So we got stuck — and our holiday money went down the drain for a set of lousy books!

I really felt sorry for the poor slob — I don't really know why.

Of course none of us got away on a holiday but I was the one who had to put up with the kids screaming and yammering. Can't you just see me telling them that we're going to spend our vacation reading about the Galloping Goose Islands or something! I might add, Kit, that just to get a little mileage out of these silly books I did try reading up on the sex life of the buffalo & it might have been okay if I could have understood it!

Well Kit old friend, you must tell me all the news in your next letter — and if you run into any encyclopedia salesmen, belt them one for me will you.

By the way — it seems that most of these encyclopedia sets cost around $400 — but one of the people here in Camp wrote away to Toronto and got a terrific set for $57.00! So, it can be done!

Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps Diamond Jubilee Celebration

1903 — 1963

One of the Canadian Army's oldest Corps celebrated its Diamond Jubilee last month. On July 1 the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps was sixty years old. Because this date conflicted with Dominion Day celebrations, the birthday celebration which was world wide, since RCOC soldiers are serving in Germany, Egypt, the Congo, Indo-China, the United States and the United Kingdom, was held mainly during the week-end of June 21 to 23.

Highlighting celebrations by the Corps in Edmonton, which included the Regular Army and the Militia, was an all ranks Regimental Dinner on Friday, 21 June, a Regimental Ball on Saturday, 22 June and a Regimental Church Parade and March Past on Sunday, 23 June, all held in Griesbach. Participating units were HQ RCOC, Western Command; 17 Regional Ordnance Depot; Coy 7 Ordnance Bn. (M); and Ordnance soldiers from 2 PPCLI, PPCLI Depot; QM Stores Western Command and Alberta Area "I" Staff.

The Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps has traditions rooted in the days of William The Conqueror. A Commission of Array was granted by the King for certain officers to muster and equip the people of each district into a loose military organization. Certain laws or ordinances were set down to provide uniformity of equipment — hence the term "ordnance".

The first ordnance officer appeared in 1299, and was known as "Keeper of the King's Wardrobe". Included in his duties were the care of and accounting for, among other things, a number of battering rams and catapults. From these early origins Canada's modern Ordnance Corps has evolved into a wide-spread and efficient supply organization that handles most everything required to equip and maintain a 20th century Army, from a shoe lace to a tank to an artillery rocket. The complex and far-reaching network of depots operated by the Corps is one of the largest business operations in the country.

Included in the supply organization are ammunition depots which provide the Army with the main tool of its trade. Because of its association with explosives, the patron saint of the Corps is Saint Barbara.

Regimental Dinner—21 June, 1963

The Regimental Dinner was held in the PT Lounge of the Leonforte Building, Hamilton Gault Barracks. It was attended by all ranks, both Regular and Militia, of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps in the Edmonton Area.

Lieut.-Col. R. D. Watson, Command Ordnance Officer, Western Command was the senior ordnance officer and the guests included Brigadier G. C. Leech, Commander, Alberta Area; Col. G. Armstrong, Commander, 23 Militia Group; Lieut.-Col. H. W. Ball, AA&QMG Alberta Area; and Lieut.-Col. E. L. Boyd, Commanding Officer, Loyal Edmonton Regiment (3 PPCLI).

At 1800 hours the bugler played "Mess Call" and to the strains of "Roast Beef of Old England" 137 all ranks entered the dining hall. Throughout the dinner, the Loyal Edmonton Regiment (3 PPCLI) Band under capable direction of WO 1 G. Smith played a selection of enjoyable military and semi-classical numbers.

At the conclusion of dinner Mr. Vice, Pte. Sarter S. P., of 17 ROD proposed the toast to Her Majesty The Queen, Colonel-in-Chief of the RCOC. Brigadier Leech, the senior guest, then gave a brief history of the Corps, following which he requested all to rise and drink a toast to the Corps. The toast was replied to by the Senior Warrant Officer, WO 1 Godfrey, 17 ROD. Lieut.-Col. Watson then read out congratulatory messages from Her Majesty the Queen; Major-General F. S. Fleury, Colonel Commandant of the RCOC; and from the Director of Ordnance Services, Colonel D. E. Mounteer. At the conclusion of the dinner all ranks retired to the anteroom where quiet revelry and conviviality were the order of the evening.

Regimental Ball — 22 June, 1963

The Ball was held in the gymnasium of the Leonforte Building, colourfully and appropriately decorated to befit the occasion. The dominating feature was an attractive 12-foot by 8-foot oil painting of Her Majesty the Queen mounted high on the wall behind the bandstand, cleverly floodlit, and overlooking the whole of the room.

Approximately 450 all ranks RCOC and their lady guests attended the gala affair. Each lady, on entering, was presented with a cleverly designed rosette of ribbons in Ordnance colours surmounted by an Ordnance Corps button, to be worn on her gown or handbag.

Dancing was to the accompaniment of an orchestra formed by the Loyal Edmonton Regiment (3 PPCLI) Band. There were spot dances and door prizes to add to the gaiety and around midnight a magnificent buffet, centered by a cake shaped in the form of an open book with the Corps crest on one page and a garland of flowers on the other, was happily consumed.

Regimental Church Parade — 23 June, 1963

For the Church Parade, The Honourable Doctor J. Percy Page, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Alberta had kindly consented to attend the service in St. John's Chapel and to take the salute at the Corps March Past following the service.

The Lieutenant-Governor was met by Major-General Rockingham and Mrs. Rockingham, who were then joined by Brigadier and Mrs. Leech, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Watson and Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Hitchman. They then proceeded to St. John's Chapel to join the troops already there. The service was conducted by Lieut.-Col. J. Cardy, Command Padre (P).

Simultaneously with the Protestant Service, Father Robertson conducted the Roman Catholic Service at Our Lady of Fatima Chapel. Father Robertson, a former Captain in the RCOC, served in Korea with the 25th Brigade and with the International Supervisory Commission in Indo-China. He left the Corps to enter the priesthood in 1957.

Brigadier G. C. Leech, Commander Alberta Area; Mrs. Leech; Major-General J. M. Rockingham, General Officer Commanding Western Command; Mrs. Rockingham; and the Honourable Doctor J. Percy Page, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, attending the Church Service in St. John's Chapel, Griesbach Garrison commemorating the RCOC Diamond Jubilee Church Parade.

On completion of the March Past, all ranks retired to their respective messes for refreshments. In the Officers' Mess, those present were informally introduced to the Lieutenant-Governor. The magnificent cake from the buffet of the evening before was cut by Doctor Page in the traditional manner with a sword, following which portions of the cake were taken to the Sergeants' Mess and the Junior Ranks Club.

"I'm not saying she isn't a good cook. But I do know why her family prays before every meal."

Alberta Signal Squadron News

Alberta Signal Squadron Commanding Officer Major R. R. Ulrich, has established what may be a first in accident prevention and safe driving. Enquiries were made made at City of Edmonton Police Traffic division and Alberta Government Highways Safety Division as to existing facilities for safe driving lectures and answers to driving problems. Arrangements were made during this initial enquiry for Sgt. Pocholok of city police and Mr. Murdock of Alberta Government Highways to Conduct lectures during the latter part of June 1963.

DID YOU KNOW: —

That during 1962 Edmonton had 126,000 traffic accidents out of 132,000 vehicles. This latter figure represents one vehicle per 2½ persons and it may well be this half driver responsible for all the accidents. In the same year damages alone mounted to $2,600,000.00 or approximately $8. per head of population. Accidents during rush hours 7 - 8.30 a.m. and 4 - 6 p.m. accounted only 20% of the total and tail gating contributed 21% of the overall total. Edmonton police investigate all accidents reported, regardless of dollar damage whereas other cities only investigate those with $100.00 or more damage. Sgt.

Pocholok used as an example a court case involving suit for damages by a passenger in an unreported accident. Had it been reported and statements obtained passengers including the fact no injuries were sustained and no one hospitalized, it would be more difficult, if not impossible for anyone to sue at a later date. All investigations are FREE and only 45% of those investigations involve any charges being laid by police.

Another interesting lecture with a film was conducted by Mr. Murdock of the Alberta Government Highways department. Our interests were mainly for heavy equipment drivers, AN/GRC 26A, 3 Ton Stake and Signals Construction Trucks, however, others in attendance found the lectures enlightening.

These gentlemen also informed us they particularly appreciated the opportunity of speaking to a gathering and are available most anytime on an invitational basis. For the City of Edmonton contact Ssgt. Wakeford through 429-1421 and Alberta Government Highways Mr. J. W. McKay at CA 9-3763.

The Library Corner

With the departure of Major Cobb, our past Librarian, we have been most fortunate in the choice of his successor, namely Major W. Ward. Major Ward, realizing the responsibilities entailed in keeping this Griesbach Library the popular reading centre for 1750 members, has happily accepted the post.

Now we can thank Major Ward and show our appreciation by bringing our books back on time. Members with Overdue Books cause a lot of bother, particularly when the culprits haven't a telephone and have to be visited — don't let this happen anymore!

An inside suggestions for good reading this month is: — ★ "Renoir my Father" by Jean Renoir. A biography and personal reminiscence of the Great French Painter who lived from 1841 - 1919. This story is told by his son with warmth, humor, love, and compassion. It describes vividly the artist's fight for his revolutionary art, plus the battle against a crippling disease.

★ "Knave of Hearts" by Dell Shannon. Spine-chilling horror, homicide, and gas chambers make this book essential for a change!

Please remember that the Library is NOT OPEN on any SATURDAY during JULY and AUGUST.

Happy reading,
The Bookworm.

"B" Troop 1st Griesbach Camp at Poole Camp Wabamun

Scouts from "B" troop attended a highly successful week at Ernest Poole Scout Camp lake Wabamun during the week 2 July tot 9 July, 1963. The programme ranged from Camp Site construction and camp cooking, Pioneering, Swimming, Canoeing, and climaxed with an Indoor Council and campfire, with "B" troop as Host to 5 other troops from Edmonton Regional. The troop after cooking instruction, is quite confident that they can now cook anything, whether live or dead. Rich Caesar of Panther Patrol underwent a trial of Courage (burning at the Stake) but the pale-faces had difficulty getting the Indian wood to burn. David Sibley, Panther Leader caught a lovely 5½ lb. jack, and Jerry Simmons from Elks Patrol come in second with a 25-in. jack. The presence of fish in the Patrol Sites, attracted the attention of Skunks, who made numerous nocturnal visits into hte camp area. (Skipper) S. M. Swan and (Mate) A. S. M. Sutton were kept busy defending Troop HQ from Squirrels who were partial to gingersnaps and wieners. The Patrols constructed a monkey bridge which proved very successful with an-intepatrol competition, to see which patrol could carry the most water in pails across the bridge. Then made for some very interesting moments, such as Ricky Bowie hanging by his heels from the centre of the bridge and not spilling a drop (or David Sibley having difficulty mounting the bridge. The Camp Warden, Mr. Bob Wein gave the patrols their final inspection, including Campsites, and the honour pennant went to the Elks Patrol. Bob Swan, Jerry Simmons, Rod MacKay, Karl Vanderstraten. Once again fellows good camping, good Scouting.

2 PPCLI Win Track and Field

WAINWRIGHT — The 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry of Edmonton grabbed top honors in the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade Group's annual track and field meet held at Buffalo Stadium in Camp Wainwright on 1 July.

With a total of 43 points they edged out the 1st Battalion, Royal 22e Regiment of Valcartier, Que., and the 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada from Calgary who trailed with scores of 36 and 34 points respectively, to win the 1 CIBG Major Unit Trophy.

Winner of the Minor Unit Trophy was 3 Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers from Camp Chilliwack, B.C.

GOLF

The golfers of Griesbach are having a fine year, if the enthusiasm shown by the Members of the Griesbach Golf Association is any indication.

We have completed three Stroke Play tournaments to date with a fourth planned for late July or early August. The tournament committee has been kept busy trying to offer as much competitive golf as possible without over-organizing our recreational time.

Major Wozny, 17 ROD, won low net honours in our Second tournament with a 63. Our handicap committee chairman took note and has assured all Members that he will never win another.

Then in our Third tournament, Cpl. Cunningham, HQ 13 Coy RCEME, made a tactical blunder by winning low net honours with an incredible 59.

The match play challenge tournament has been quite active. Major Edwards and Major Freeborn got away to a quick start by defeating Major Werth and Major Cooper by 2 up in a close match. WO 2 James and Mr. Henry Jacobs of 13 Works Coy were to succumb in another close one by a score of 2 and 1. Challenges are coming thick and fast, but so far our Match Play Champions have managed to squeek through.

At June meeting, the Association Executive and Unit Golf representatives agreed to have the Association sponsor a Junior Golf Tournament during the last week in August. The tournament would be open to all dependents of Association members who have not reached their 19th birthday by 1 Sept., 1963. More details will be circulated later..

Our Handicap Committee, under the Chairmanship of Mr. N. Casselman, 13 Works Coy RCE, is doing a fine job. Golfers who are dissatisfied with their poster handicaps have only themselves to thank as the Committee can only fairly handicap on the basis of scores turned in after each round of play.

We are all looking forward to our best season ever, and every indication points to a most successful year.

Appoint Princess Royal

Her Majesty the Queen has approved the appointment of Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal as Colonel-in-Chief of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. This is the first time that the militia unit has had one.

The traditions of the regiment go back to the early history of Newfoundland when the British Army raised units on the island. In 1795 a Newfoundland Regiment of Fencible Infantry was formed. It was succeeded in 1803 by a new unit, the Newfoundland Fencible Infantry. Three years later the title "Royal" was added and the Royal Newfoundland Fencible Infantry served with distinction throughout the War of 1812. This unit was disbanded in 1816.

The proudest — and saddest — day in the history of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment was July 1, 1916 when the unit was almost wiped out in the attack on Beaumont Hamel during the Battle of the Somme.

In addition to the RNR, the Princess Royal is also Colonel-in-Chief of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and two other militia regiments — Victoria's Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) and Toronto's Royal Regiment of Canada.

Nowaday there are the haves, the have-nots and the chargeits.

He that is good for making excuses is seldom good for any thing else.

RETIREES

The Army's Deputy Director of Dental Services, Colonel Gordon B. Shillington, CD, of Manotick and Blenheim, Ont., has retired from the Regular Army after 23 years continuous service.

Commissioned in The Canadian Dental Corps on the outbreak of the Second World War, Col. Shillington served as a dental officer with units in Canada and the United Kingdom. In 1942 he was attached to the RCAF in North Africa as a major.

In 1945-46 he commanded No. 18 Canadian Base Dental Company in the United Kingdom. Dental appointments at No. 2 District Depot and No. 36 Dental Company followed on his return to Canada in 1946. In 1950 he was appointed Deputy Director of Dental Services at Army Headquarters. He later commanded the RCDC School in Ottawa.

Col. Shillington was given command of No. 11 Company RCDC, in Edmonton in August 1954. In 1957 he was appointed Senior Consultant in the office of the Director General of Dental Services in Ottawa.

Col. Shillington was appointed a Queen's Honorary Dental Surgeon in June 1958 and was again named to the post of Deputy Director of Dental Services at Army Headquarters in November 1958.

Comment of Akron, Ohio, woman after giving birth to nine consecutive daughters.

"Well, anyway, I'll never have to worry about daughters-in-law."

To U.S. College

EDMONTON — Major N. P. E. Fox, CD, of Halifax, has been selected to attend the US Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

An officer of The Royal Canadian Regiment, Maj. Fox will leave the appointment of general staff officer (grade two) at Headquarters Western Command, Edmonton, to attend the year-long course.

I grumbled because I had to get up so early in the morning — until one morning when I couldn't get up.
